From: Financial Times Briefing <FT@emailbriefings.ft.com>
To: ehbarak1@gmail.com
CC:
Date: Tue, 10/20/2015 7:31:21 AM
Subject: In today's FT: Xi lands in London for â€˜golden eraâ€™ visit, China to ...

To view this email as a webpage, click here

Tuesday October 20 2015

UK HOMEPAGE

Xi lands in London for ‘golden era’ visit

Human rights and steel dumping doubts cast shadow over China president’s four-day trip

China to take stake in UK nuclear plant

Investment pact in £24bn EDF-led project sealed just hours before Xi’s arrival in London

Deutsche Bank in $6bn ‘fat finger’ slip-up

Mistaken payment to hedge fund adds to German lender’s woes

VIDEO

How much to recapitalise Greek banks?

Greek banks need another round of recapitalisation. Lex's Robert Armstrong and Oliver Ralph consider which is the better option: lots of public money or a little private money.

US HOMEPAGE

Canada’s Liberals heading for victory

Two major TV networks call a majority win for Justin Trudeau’s party

IBM slides on full-year earnings warning

Revenue misses estimates after buffeting in emerging markets

United gets third chief in six weeks

Hart, the airline's general counsel, is to take over on an interim basis

EUROPE HOMEPAGE

Protests reveal Germany's migration rift

Far-right Pegida and pro-immigration groups clash in Dresden

Starbucks and Fiat face unpaid tax bill

Apple and Amazon in line of fire of EU's landmark decision this week on avoidance by multinationals

China's capital outflows top $500bn

US Treasury calculations for 2015 show shifting Washington assessment of renminbi

ASIA HOMEPAGE

Big companies sign climate change pledge

Obama spearheads drive to enlist corporate backers to reduce greenhouse gas emissions

Morgan Stanley's profits dive 40%

Weak bond trading and investment revenues cap poor earnings season for Wall Street banks

US warned China still hacking companies

State-backed hackers thought to be trying to steal corporate secrets despite Obama and Xi deal

WORLD NEWS

Brazil president faces new budget probe

Scrutiny could reinforce calls to impeach Rousseff

Voters stay at home in Egypt poll

Government scrambles to boost turnout and warns of 'danger' if people don't participate in election

Disgruntled Polish youth lurch right

High unemployment and emigration fuel discontent

OECD warns of fall in state R&D support

Report calls for increased spending on blue-sky research

Trudeau awaits Canada's election verdict

Early results from Atlantic coast point to better than expected success for his Liberal party

COMPANIES NEWS

Airlines reach for WiFi in the sky

European carriers are rushing to compete with US and Gulf rivals

Education services group Tribal warns on profits

Shares fall 40% to lowest level since 2012 as group blames competition and contract delays

Transport for London to build 10,000 homes

Network turns to property development for £1bn investment in underground, trains and buses

Buyout groups snap up PhotoBox for £400m

Photo printing company agrees sale a year after plans for IPO pulled

Metro at 'turning point' as sales rise

German retail group shrugs off negative currency effects as it points to continued revenue growth

MARKETS

Defensive stocks shine after China GDP

Shanghai and Hong Kong fail to hold gains and Wall St ends flat

US Treasury debt defies higher yield call

Bond market reflects central bank remaining on hold into 2016

Trouble ahead for Canada's poll winner

Low market confidence in commodity-based economy hit by recession

Iran promises pre-sanctions oil output

Energy minister says levels can get back to 3.4m b/d within 7 months

Squeeze on BDC fees in battle for control

Conflicts of interest riddle business development company sector

COMMENT

Europe picks a bad moment to engage Turkey

No wonder Erdogan was pictured beaming at his meeting with Merkel

Tory divisions are the party's strength

Managed well, dissent can convey vitality while draining Labour of a reason to exist

What China wants from Britain

Awkward political issues lurk beneath the superficial civility, writes George Magnus

India's walking fish and sneezing monkey

We have only begun to uncover the diversity of the planet's animals and plants, writes Victor Mallet

Big tent proves too small for the Fed

It is time for Yellen to put clarity before consensus

MANAGEMENT

Lord Bilimoria: UK should be more open

The Indian-born peer is exasperated by official policy on foreigners studying and working in the UK

Blunt staff surveys are all bosses have

New Barclays chief will need help unpicking employee data to work out where the problems are

Study shows benefit of low blood pressure

Trial shows drugs sharply cut risk of heart disease, stroke and death

Kui Yuan Café, Guangzhou

A retreat for vistors to the Canton trade fair and antidote to the city's coffee chains

Manage email | Forward this email

Feedback | Manage portfolio

Subscribe to the FT

Follow the FT

Unsubscribe | My Account | RSS | Privacy Policy | About Us | Help

© THE FINANCIAL TIMES LTD 2015

You have received this email because you have signed up from the NBE preference page.
This email was sent by a company owned by Pearson plc, registered office at 80 Strand, London WC2R 0RL.
Registered in England and Wales with company number 53723.